Mr. Mills at Home.

From Texas, and from Mr. Mills' own Congressional district, comes a voice of indignant protest against the course he is pursuing in Congress. The Cattlemen's Association of Central Texas, in convention at Waco, the principal town in Mr. Mills' district, has adopted with only two dissenting votes condemnatory only two dissenting votes condemnatory Miss Minchin's," but she has nover writresolutions, of which the following are a ten anything more charming, nothing persons and papers charry of speaking out on the subject. But the danger is out on the subject. But the uanger is nevertheless great and pressing and ought to receive the attention of all thoughtful persons, native or foreign born.

The tickets will be sold for all trains on Wednesday and Thursday, May 2d and 3d, and good for return trip until Friday, May 4th, inclusive.

It is an alarming possibility of danger now more than ever in our past. We may defer action too long. The Springfield, Mass., Republican has an article on the subject that is full of suggestions for all who are capable of comprehending the national emergency. We quote it the national emergency. We quote it as follows:

The flowing in of foreign immigration upon our shores is now so tremendous that no one can read the figures without perplexity and alarm. The official statement of Castle Garden shows that there were over 405,000 added to our population by the arrivals there in 1887. There is no diminution in the current since this year opened; on the contrary, more have already applied to come this month than the steamship lines can bring, indicating that the immigration of 1888 will be far greater. There is ground in these facts for apprehension that we have reached the limit of assimilation, and need to devise some means of checking the torrent before it shall undermine our institutions—means more efficacious than the challenging of limities, criminals and paupers. The character of the immigratis is probably not worse than it has averaged in the past, nor are its proportions greatly on two set than it has averaged in the past, nor are its proportions greatly changed. The British kingdom continues to send the greatest number, 122,809; and the g

Chronic Coughs and Colds,

In the preface to lifs "History of the Protective Tariff Laws," Col. R. W. Thompson, ex-Secretary of the Navy, says: "The arguments with reference to the general aspects of the subject have long been exhausted." This is true, except as a new illustration may give new life to an old argument, and it is one of the remedy par-excellence in taberculous the remedy par-excellence in tuberculous and strumous affections, to say nothing of ordinary colds and throat troubles."— W. "Can some little boy tell me what animals lie in wait for their food?" said the teacher, and little Johnny Binks piped out: "Please, teacher, the coal dealers."

Pentars no local disease has puzzled and baffled the medical profession more than nasal catarrh. "While not immediately fatal it is among the most distressing, nauseous and disgusting ills the flesh is heir to, and the records show very few or no cases of radical cures of chronic catarrh by any of the multitude of modes of treatment until the introduction of Ely's Cream Balm a few years ago. The success of this preparation has been most gratifying and surprising.
